As a binding document, adherence to this Code is mandatory for all members, ensuring consistency, integrity, and professionalism in our collective endeavours. By adhering to these ethical and behavioural guidelines, we demonstrate our commitment to excellence, integrity, and mutual respect within our community and in our interactions with others. All members are required to give an undertaking to the effect that they would abide by the UPTECH Code of Conduct. The Code of Conduct also specifies the procedure for the action to be taken against concerned members for any breach of this Code.

4.1 Filing a Complaint — All complaints must be submitted in writing and sent to the Management Committee of the Council. Any member is eligible to lodge a complaint.

4.2 Investigation — Upon receipt, the complaint will undergo investigation by a Committee vested with the authority to summon any member(s) deemed relevant to the matter.

4.3 Right to Respond — Should the Committee determine potential misconduct, the implicated member(s) will be afforded a 7-day period to respond to the allegations.

4.4 Disciplinary Actions — Should the member(s) be found guilty, disciplinary actions may include caution, reprimand, suspension, or expulsion from Council membership.

4.5 Dismissal of Complaint — If the complaint lacks merit following the Committee's evaluation, the complainant will be duly informed.

4.6 Fair Hearing — In instances where the matter is referred to the Disciplinary Committee, formal proceedings will be arranged for a fair hearing of the charges.

4.7 Escalation — If the Committee finds the response inadequate or no written representation is received, the matter will be escalated to the Disciplinary Committee.

5. Confidentiality of Proceedings

For caution and reprimand, the Council will disseminate details of the circumstances and outcome to all members without disclosing the member's identity. In cases of suspension or expulsion, the Council will, at its discretion, inform members confidentially.

6. Right of Appeal

Affected members retain the right to appeal the committee's decision within 7 days, submitting a written appeal. The Executive Committee will then review the appeal. The verdict rendered by the Executive Committee on the appeal(s) shall be final and non-negotiable.
